MRS. ARCHERLEY

portant business—our son told him that his father was out attending on a patient. The man then began to inquire who else were living in the house besides us—and which was the Doctor's bedroom and office. The little boy hesitated answering the question and in return asked what his name was, so that he could tell his father when he returned. The party refused to give his name and went out; the little boy followed to the front verandah and saw a carriage at the gate with others in it. The description of the man fitted Dr. Peterson of the Asylum. I have since learnt that he and Dr. Wayson called at the police station that night with some other "trumped-up" complaint, but was unsuccessful. I have known of kidnapping to meet their wicked ends instead of hearing a trumped-up charge on its merits.

I felt and still feel that an attempt was made that night to take the body of my husband by force to the Asylum, since Judge Robinson had refused the above parties their request of locking the Doctor up while the appeal was pending. That is the reason why we need our safety around. "Self-protection."

RYCROFT FUNERAL TAKES PLACE TODAY

At 3 o'clock this afternoon the remains of the late Robert Rycroft, who died at his Wilder avenue home early this morning, will be laid to rest. The funeral will be held from the late residence.

Mr. Rycroft's death, though sudden, was not entirely unexpected. He had been a sufferer from heart trouble for some time, and of late had been in more or less miserable health. Two or three days ago his family began to realize that the end was not far off, but when it did come it was no less a shock.

Mr. Rycroft was one of the best known and most highly respected men in Honolulu. Coming here at an early age, shortly after the great Civil War, he took an active part in the affairs of the community, and was an important factor in the business and financial world.

He was one of the first men to try coffee-growing here, having planted several hundred acres in lower Puna. Mr. Rycroft was the first man to start the manufacture of ice by the ammonia process in Honolulu, and established quite a business. Later he disposed of his holdings and went to Australia, embarking in the ice business there. He soon returned here, however, and established the Fountain Soda Works.

Of late years Mr. Rycroft had turned the management of the soda works over to his son, devoting all of his time to looking after his extensive holdings.

Mr. Rycroft leaves a widow, three sons, Mark, Henry and Walter, and two daughters, Sophia and Gladys.

DUAL PROGRAM FOR FILIPINO CONCERT

The Constabulary Band, one of the most famous musical organizations in the world, will give a band and orchestral concert next Friday afternoon and evening that no lover of the finest music should miss.

The program will be a dual one, the band giving half the numbers and the orchestra the other half. This orchestra, which is composed of members of the band, carries 64 pieces, and has a reputation almost equal to that of the band itself. It will take a prominent part in all the gala festivities at the capitol, and will furnish the music for the inaugural ball at Washington, D. C. next March.

After the week of inaugural celebrations, the band will tour the country, playing in all the principal cities; but nowhere will the public be admitted at anything like the prices offered to Honolulu people. The management will then be paying its own travelling expenses, which are now paid by Wm. H. Taft, and prices will be raised accordingly.

There are still many good seats left at the Bergstrom Music Co., but the indications are that they will all go and the S. R. O. sign be hung out Friday. Prices are 25c, 50c, 75c and $1.

CANADA CALLS FOR MUCH LITERATURE

Hardly had W. J. Cooper of the Promotion Committee boarded the steamer Moana yesterday when the purser began upbraiding him for not keeping the ship better supplied with Honolulu literature.

"Why, I have you a big bunch the last time you were here," responded Cooper in amazement. "I know you did," answered the purser, "but there is such a demand for the publications that they go in short order."

H. P. Wood states that every ship to the Canadian ports carries a large amount of Hawaiian literature, and yet it seems impossible to supply the ever-increasing demand. "There seems to be a rapidly growing interest in Honolulu and the Territory of Hawaii in general, throughout the Northwest," said Wood this morning. "Though we send large quantities of reading matter there, we are always receiving calls for more. I shall send a package by the Moana today."

This afternoon the Moana carried away a quantity of lecture material addressed to Mary McArthur of Meneminee, Mich., who contemplates delivering a series of lectures on Hawaii. She wrote to the Promotion Committee for data and Mr. Wood promptly complied a few volumes and started them off by return mail. "It seems as though interest in Hawaii must be increasing very rapidly," continued Mr. Wood. "Almost every mail brings a request for lecture material and just as fast as we can get the desired data together we send them back. Certainly the outlook is very encouraging."

KING GILES

After enquiring at the police station, and being informed that His Majesty, King Giles, was willing to receive in audience, a Bulletin reporter was ushered into the Royal presence.

"Clindra, sambula venacka?" was the King's greeting.

Now any ordinary man would have thought he had run up against an arrogant student of Volapuk. Not so the reporter. A sojourn in that Hades of the Pacific, Fiji, had added a smattering of the language to other accomplishments, so readily acquired in the tropics.

"Sa, sambula," replied the reporter, and then in English, "You have been in Fiji?"

The King at once became rational and discoursed very intelligently on the Fijian islands, where it appears he resided for some time.

Whilst speaking on ordinary subjects, King Giles is as rational as any man. It is when any form of government is mentioned that he appears to be a fit subject for the "nut factory."

Giles expressed a wish to leave by the R. M. S. Moana for Vancouver this afternoon, but if he does we will probably see his Kinglets back by the same steamer, as the Canucks are not infatuated with people who are bugs.
